

LA FOLLETTE SWEEPS THE STATE WITH BIG MAJORITY

ESTIMATED MAJORITY FORTY THOUSAND AT THE LEAST.

M'GOVERN IS ALSO NAMED

Indications Also Point to Tucker's Nomination—All Congressmen Re-nominated.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

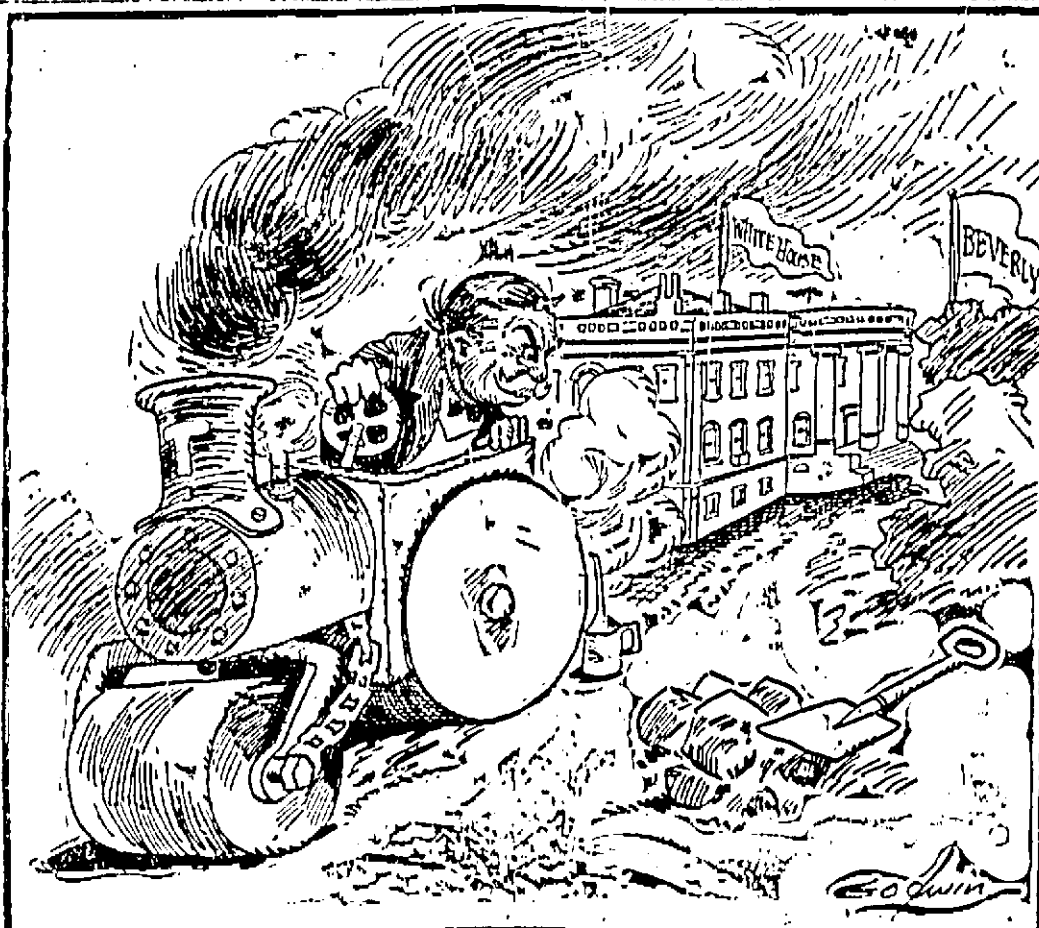

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—Though figures throughout the state on the primary are incomplete and the final tally may not be known for a day or two, there is no doubt that Senator La Follette has an overwhelming majority for senator on the republican ticket and that he has carried with him the state ticket headed by Francis E. McGovern and in addition a majority of Gilbert in advance of the commencement of the last case.

It is believed by attorneys who have examined it that the law has not a leg to stand on, and that its unconstitutionality is so apparent that the attorney general would doubtless knock it out in an official opinion and thus save trouble and expense in carrying the case through supreme court. The Democrats will submit this question to the attorney general.

At La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 7.—Latest primary returns this morning show the Democrats saved for themselves a place on the official ballot by carrying the required twenty per cent of the party vote. The percentage is expected here to run to thirty-five, making the position of the Democratic party safe. Stalwart leaders,

FIGHT ON FREIGHT RATES IS OPENED

Representatives Of New York Ship- pers' Association Appear Before Interstate Commerce Commission

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Sept. 7.—The assembling of representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroads and the shippers' organizations in this city today to begin the taking of evidence in regard to the proposed increase in freight rates in the East marks the real beginning of the greatest railroad fight in the history of America. The hearings will be conducted along the same lines as those recently held in Chicago, where the officials of the Western roads were called upon to justify their advances in rates. The hearings before the commission in this city will probably consume several weeks. The chief arguments on the side of the railroads will be presented by the chief counsel representing the big systems, such as the Pennsylvania, Erie, New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio. The testimony will be heard before Judge C. S. Brown, chief examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

ROOSEVELT IN BADGER STATE

MILWAUKEE GIVES EX-PRESIDENT BIG WELCOME

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—One of the largest and most representative crowds ever seen in Milwaukee assembled today to join in the welcome to ex-President Roosevelt, who arrived here from St. Paul shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. Despite the early hour an immense throng had gathered at the station and the greeting to the ex-President was in keeping with the enthusiastic demonstrations which have everywhere attended his tour throughout this section of the country.

After concluding breakfast at his hotel the ex-President was taken in tow by the local reception committee and the remainder of the forenoon was spent in an automobile ride about the city, with brief visits to the Soldiers' Home, Marquette University, the Chamber of Commerce and other institutions and points of interest. At luncheon the distinguished visitor and his party were guest of the editors of the Milwaukee daily newspapers and of the entertainment committee.

The afternoon programme provided for a public reception at the hotel and later a visit to the Milwaukee Press Club. Twelve thousand tickets of admission have been issued for the auditorium tonight, where the ex-President is to conclude his stay in Milwaukee with a public address.

Banquet in Chicago. Chicago, Sept. 7.—Ex-President Roosevelt will make a seven hour visit in Chicago tomorrow and every minute of the time will be turned to account. He is scheduled to arrive here at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and will remain in the city until midnight. The chief feature of the programme will be the banquet at the Congress Hotel at which he will be the guest of honor and chief speaker. The affair will be under the auspices of the Hamilton Club, the leading Republican organization of Chicago.

Talks on Socialism. Milwaukee, Sept. 7.—Regarding the refusal of Mayor Seld to greet Col. Roosevelt as a member of the Milwaukee Press Club the Colonel said this morning:

"On this trip I have made no political speeches and of course I shall not break the rule now by discussing either the state party matter or the municipal party matter and of course at present the dominant political party in Milwaukee is the Socialist party. If anyone wishes to know my views on what is called 'Socialism,' they will find them set forth in such fashion that it is impossible to misunderstand them."

As to Roosevelt. Regarding the report that although nominated La Follette will be the brunt of an attack to beat him in the legislative contest, Col. Roosevelt said today:

"It has been stated to me that in spite of Sen. La Follette's having carried the primaries in fair contest, an effort will be made to beat him in the legislature."

"I do not for one moment believe this, because any such conduct would be from every point of view an outrage and would be a deliberate violation of good faith."

the legislative nominees in accord with his views.

All the insurgent congressmen are re-nominated and as an addition to their ranks Henry C. Cochran in the Fifth district defeated Stafford.

Congressman Welton is the choice of the democrats for United States senator.

The returns up to 11 o'clock this forenoon indicate that La Follette has a plurality of 40,000 over Cook.

The plurality of McGovern and other members of the La Follette ticket except Tucker, who was drawn last week, are estimated at 20,000. Tucker's plurality, presumably because of his demise, is put at 10,000.

Thomas Morris of La Crosse, a La Follette supporter, was nominated for lieutenant governor.

Carrie La Follette.

Milwaukee, Sept. 7.—La Follette for United States senator and McGovern for governor carried Milwaukee county for the republican nominations, according to complete returns. McGovern won over Fairchild with Lewis Clark, Frank T. Tucker, who drowned at Oshkosh, carries the county for attorney general.

May Do Tucker.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 7.—Latest primary returns from the state this morning indicate Frank T. Tucker, progressive candidate for attorney general, who selected last week at Oshkosh, was nominated over Levi Haneroff and H. A. Gunderson, a stalwart, by at least 2 to 1 majority.

Sixth District. Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 7.—Revised returns from the five counties in the Sixth Congressional district indicates that Michael Burke, democrat, is nominated by a plurality of 700. The next highest candidate was Michael A. Reilly of Fond du Lac, Clarke being third in the race. La Follette carried Fond du Lac county 2 to 1 for senator.

In Green County. Monroe, Sept. 7.—The total vote for congress in Green county was: Cooper, 1957; Ingalls, 821.

WILL DEMOCRATS HAVE PER CENT IN WHOLE STATE?

Chairman Davies Is Not Certain That They Have Sufficient to Get On Ticket.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7.—Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the democratic state committee, declared that while his fragmentary information indicated the democratic state ticket had received the twenty per cent vote required to get on the ticket, there is still a doubt about it on account of the fact that only a comparatively few precincts had reported.

It is also said in many counties the local democratic tickets had not received enough votes owing to the absence of democratic contests, which left the voters of that party free to remain or be drawn into the factional strife of the republicans.

Davies suggests the democratic ticket was most in danger when the drawing to republican row was strongest.

The question of the constitutionality of a so-called twenty per cent law will be put up to Attorney General undelayed by the overwhelming defeat administered in the primaries, openly admit they will vote for Democrats in preference to the progressive nominees.

Still In Doubt.

Milwaukee, Sept. 7.—Headquarters of the Democratic party in this district refuse to state today whether or not the party had polled the required twenty per cent of primary votes to entitle the party to recognition in the next general election. Returns were yet too incomplete was the reason for the refusal.

AUTHORITIES GET CONFESSION FROM FORGER OF ORDERS

August Brinkman, Wanted for Robbing Minnesota Postoffice and Passing Forged Money Orders, Admits Crimes.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7.—The post-office officials announced today the capture of August Brinkman, who has confessed to robbing the Byron, Minn., postoffice of blank money orders, filling them out and cashing three in this vicinity. Brinkman was arrested at La Crosse on Aug. 31 and is now in jail there. He gave his residence at Oak, Minn.

Ten blank money orders were taken, duly stamped and later forged and passed. Three, each for $100 were passed for payment by a local bank and cashed. The bank will have to stand the loss. Brinkman had also forged orders on St. Paul, Minn., and Superior, Wis., postoffices.

MAKE ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF THE CZAR

Two Strangers in Uniform Penetrate Five Lines of Guards But Are Halted and Escaped.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Friedberg, Germany, Sept. 7.—What the police believe to have been an attempt on the life of Czar Nicholas, took place on a visit to Friedberg, was frustrated today. Two men in uniform and evidently anarchists, penetrated five lines of guards about the Czar's home and had all but reached the Czar's room when sentries demanded the visitors' permits, at which the men hastily retreated and made their escape.

GERMAN BAPTISTS IN SESSION AT MILWAUKEE

The convention is attended by about six hundred delegates and an equal number of visitors representing the German Baptist churches throughout the United States and Canada.

CONNECTICUT DEMS HOPE FOR VICTORY

Expect Strong Insurgent Republican Element to Sweep State into Their Column.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 7.—That a strong insurgent Republican element will help to sweep Connecticut into the Democratic column next November appears to be the unanimous opinion among the Democratic party leaders who have assembled in this city for their State convention. The Bulkeley-McLean fight for the gubernatorial nomination between Everett J. Lake and Charles A. Goodwin will, in the opinion of the Democrats, blight the Republican hope for victory this fall.

The Democratic convention meets in New Haven tonight to effect a permanent organization. Union members of the convention will adopt a platform and select candidates for governor and other State officers and for congressional-at-large.

All indications point to the nomination of ex-Chief Justice Sargent B. Aldrich as the Democratic candidate for governor. If Judge Baldwin intimates a willingness to accept the honor the nomination will be given him practically without a dissenting voice.

Judge Aldrich is one of the foremost citizens of Connecticut and the Democrats believe that many Republicans would vote for him. For many years he has been an intimate personal friend of President Taft.

Among lawyers and jurists Judge Baldwin enjoys an international reputation. From 1898 to 1906 he was an active justice of the supreme court of Connecticut and from 1906 until his voluntary retirement last spring he was chief justice. He is a professor in the Yale Law School and has served a president of the American Bar Association and the International Law Association.

"Baby Mine."

It is indeed fortunate to know that "Baby Mine" immediately following the laughing history it made in Chicago, where for six months it held capacity audiences spellbound, with its refreshing fun, will favor our local theatre patrons next Monday, September 12, at the Mayan theatre for from all accounts "Baby Mine" has made an unprecedented hit with the laughing public of Chicago.

Following close upon the heels of the Chicago unanimous verdict, that "Baby Mine" possesses all the essential elements of true, wholesome, convincing fun, comes the same inspiring reports from New York City, where Margaret Mayo's fun play has evidently settled down indefinitely in the city's theatre.

"Baby Mine" will be seen here under the same favorable auspices as in Chicago, that is to say, the original cast headed by that most admirable comedian, Otis Harlan, and the original production will be offered, therefore, "Baby Mine" absolutely insures a laughing treat of a very superior kind.

ROAD WILL BUILD YARDS AT MADISON

Reported That North-Western Will Begin Work Next Year.

According to reports, a great system of railroad switching yards, round-houses and shops is the prospect for South Madison. If the plans now formed are carried out, the road will make these improvements in the Capital City. This will mean that all the west-end business now done by the company will be centered in that suburb.

The plans were formulated by officials of the road several months ago but have not been carried out owing to the press of other work in connection with the big new depot and the raising and construction of new tracks. It is hardly possible that anything will be done this summer in regard to the yards project but it is almost a certainty that next summer will see the work started.

One hundred acres, the land involved in the project, lies about a quarter of a mile south of the present depot in South Madison and is owned in part by the Dane County Fair association. The association is ready to sell as the land is practically worthless to them. A great deal of filling in and grading will be necessary. F. J. Zorile, general agent in Madison, in a statement made recently, said that the work would undoubtedly be done although he was ignorant of the precise details.

SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

One of many cases where Peruna has done what other remedies failed to do.

MR. C. A. LANDGRABE.

Mr. C. A. Landgrave, Box 2, Cambridge, Ohio, writes: "I had been a slight sufferer for a number of years, but paid little or no attention to it, until the spring of this year, when my sufferings became very severe."

"I had pain in the head, back, spine, liver, chest, and various parts of my body, besides indigestion that caused me much trouble and anxiety. I often thought when I retired at night I would not live through it. I tried medical aid, but to no purpose."

"Not knowing what was my main trouble I wrote to Dr. Hartman, after reading of his treatment, for advice, telling him of my various ailments, and he notified me at once that I had systemic catarrh."

"After using the first bottle of Peruna I felt relief, so I continued to use it until I had taken four bottles, when I felt entirely cured. I recommend it to all others, believing that they will experience the relief that I did."

Peruna as a Tonic.

Mr. William J. Hawkins, 12 West St., Westbury, L. I., writes:

"I wish to give my testimony in favor of Peruna as a tonic. I have used it for catarrh, and can recommend it to all who are troubled in that way."

George Williams, formerly of this city, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Collins of Ottawa, Ill., last night of a general physical breakdown, aged sixty-five. Mr. Williams was employed as railroad gate tender at the Academy St. crossing until recently when his health failed following the death of his wife and left to make his home with his daughter in Illinois. The remains will be brought to this city for burial.

REJECTED NOBLEMAN; WEDS AN AMERICAN

Miss Minna Twombly Jones Of Boston Becomes Bride Of Alex. B. Marvin Of New York.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7.—Miss Minna Twombly Jones, the Boston society girl who jilted Captain Arthur Kumbler of the Australian nobility five years ago and thereby caused an international sensation, today became the bride of Alexander B. Marvin, a former well known New Yorker who now spends the most of his time in Porto Rico looking after his extensive coffee plantations there.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Jones, who were well known socially in Boston, New York and Newport. Through her uncle, the late Hamilton K. McTwombly, she is related to the Vanderbilts. Since the death of her mother in Norway four years ago she has resided with her sister in Cambridge, where today's wedding took place.

It was six years ago while traveling in Europe with her mother, that Miss Jones, then an impressionable girl not quite out of her teens, was fascinated at Cardask by the dashing Captain Arthur Kumbler, Baron van Saurberg. The Captain proved an ardent wooer and within a few months after their first meeting the engagement of the couple was announced. Soon the wedding invitations were issued and all arrangements for the marriage completed. The young girl and her mother, Captain Kumbler arrived to claim his bride. The latter, however, found that in American surroundings she no longer loved the titled foreigner. With rare courage the girl broke the steps.

Berlin Not So Slow.

In Berlin, where much wood is burned, they are not so slow. A motor truck drives up to a house and delivers a load of logs. A motor sawing machine rolls up under its own power, cuts, with saws run by gasoline, the wood into fireplace lengths as desired, cleans up the litter and moves on. Very little noise.

"All Wool and a Yard Wide"

"Doctor Richards, your former work for me has proven entirely satisfactory in the years I have had it in my mouth, so I come back to you for this new tooth which has broken down and needs attention."

This is what people say to me almost daily. The proof is in the years of use which my patients get out of my work. I know my competitors say that good work can't be done for less than the schedule of prices (which is double mine). But nevertheless people come in (as stated above) and show me my work doing good service yet.

I've been practicing in Janesville now in my tenth year.

Let me save you one-half on your dental bill.

JANESVILLE TO HEAR ROOSEVELT

DIG GREETING PLANNED FOR TOMORROW MORNING.

SPEAKS HERE 15 MINUTES

Police Prepare to Take Care of Monster Crowd at C. & N. W. Depot at 9:25 A. M.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, ex-president of the United States and the foremost private citizen in America today, will arrive in Janesville over the C. & N. W. railroad from Milwaukee at 9:25 tomorrow morning and will speak for fifteen minutes from the car platform.

Station Agent Alva Hommens received official notification this morning together with instructions to call upon the head of the police department to have his men in readiness to handle the immense throng that will gather at the depot and thereby forestall accidents or any untoward incident. He presented Chief Appleby with a souvenir copy of tomorrow's literary and received assurances that everything would be done as requested. It is likely that most of the night patrolmen will volunteer their services.

The announcement of these definite arrangements came so late that many arrangements had to be made. Several citizens took it upon themselves to engage the band and name the following committee to greet the distinguished visitor:

Victor F. Richardson, chairman, Mayor William L. Carter, Senator John M. Whitehead, Stewart B. Haddox, George Sutherland, Fred Clements, H. F. Miles, Thomas S. Nolan, Peter J. Mount, Geo. D. Simpson, Postmaster Charles L. Valentine, Norman L. Carlo, David Atwood, M. G. Jeffers, George S. Parker, C. J. Hendricks, and P. F. Lewis.

The souvenir literary for the day is issued by the Outlook of New York and the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. and is printed in two colors. It bears on the first page the Northwestern Line emblem and the words: "Literary—THEODORE ROOSEVELT, VICE—MILWAUKEE to PREPARE—September 8, 1910" and in smaller type "The Outlook, New York." Page 2 presents a large view taken in the Rock River valley near Ft. Atkinson and Page 3 a map of the section of Wisconsin and Illinois country which the special car will traverse tomorrow, with the route printed in red. Page 2 is devoted to the following schedule:

Leave Milwaukee—7:30 a. m.
Arrive Janesville—7:35 a. m.
Arrive Jefferson—8:30 a. m.
Arrive Ft. Atkinson—8:45 a. m.
Arrive Janesville—9:25 a. m.
Arrive Rockford—10:50 a. m.
Arrive Preppert—11:40 a. m.

The Good That Never Dies. Dickens: There is nothing, innocent or good, that dies and is forgotten. Let us hold to that faith or none. An infant, a prattling child, will live again in the better thoughts of those who loved it, and in the redeeming actions of the world, through its body be burnt to ashes or drowned in the deepest sea.

Learning and Works. He who has more learning than good works is like a tree with many branches but few roots, which the first wind throws on its face, while he whose works are greater than his knowledge is like a tree with many roots and fewer branches, but which all the winds of heaven cannot uproot.—Talmud.

Masters of Our Own Destiny. It is my own deed which molds my character. If I send out hatred, if I retaliate, judge, condemn, or yield to another's dominating will, then I consciously take part in the fray, and must suffer the consequences.—Heraclitus the Doctor.

HUNDREDS WATCHED THE PRIMARY VOTE

As Displayed on Screen at Gazette Office Last Evening—Cheered Victory of Favorites.

Hundreds of anxious politicians watched the primary election returns as flashed from the lantern to a screen opposite The Gazette office last evening and cheered as favorites showed decisive gains in this district or that. Johnstown was the first town that made a report shortly after seven and from that time until the report from the fourth ward was received at two this morning there was a continuous stream of reports. The results were thrown on a screen hung from the roof of Hutchinson & Son's building on Milwaukee street across from the office as fast as received and while the final results could only be guessed at until about 10 o'clock, the interest was intense. Many failed to remember the telephone and there were repeated calls for "all the returns at once." Reports from Milwaukee and the state at large were received by long distance telephone and by two o'clock, when the office closed and the last slide was thrown onto the screen for the benefit of the twenty odd "faithful" watchers, it was pretty generally known who had carried the state while there was no doubt as to who had been nominated for county offices and who had carried the county for state and congressional offices. In fact every return, except the state offices from the town of Center, had been received by pre-arranged plans before the office closed. There was no guesswork about it and the figures given out last night were verified to-day without a single mistake.

Automobile Tourists: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King of Chicago arrived here last evening in an automobile and were registered at the Hotel Myers.

KOHLHOFF IS VERY EAGER TO BEHAVE

And Support His Two Minor Children If the Court Will Give Him Another Chance.

Frank Kohloff, who was arrested by Sheriff Scheibel in Preppert last Sunday and brought here to answer to a charge of abandoning his two minor children—Fred, age 14, and Mary, age 12—was haled before Judge Field in municipal court this morning. It appeared that the children have been cared for by a family named Milligan at Madison, and that Kohloff's promise to send $1.50 per week for the support of each one of them had not been kept since June 7. Kohloff claimed he had not secured steady employment and had recently but declared that he had been abstaining from the use of intoxicants and promised to do better if given a chance. The examination was adjourned for two days, and the prisoner will remain in the county jail, being unable to furnish $200 bonds. In the meantime, however, he will go with Postmaster Anderson to the Humill home on Cherry street and try to make an arrangement for the care of his children in this city and if the matter is adjusted satisfactorily this prosecution may be dispensed with.

FACTORY CASES IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Actions Against Janesville Machine Co. and N. N. Pappas Were Dismissed.

N. N. Pappas, proprietor of the Majestic moving picture theatre, appeared in municipal court with his attorney, Thomas S. Nolan, this morning to defend an action started by State Factory Inspector D. D. Evans of Racine for alleged violation of the child-labor laws. It was claimed that Mr. Pappas had employed children under sixteen years of age to assist in his show-place. The defendant presented bills of sale and other documents to show that he sold out on June 10 to Post Choles; that Choles was unable to meet the financial obligations incurred by the transaction; and that the property reverted to him on August 8, just three days after the time specified in the complaint.

The case against the Janesville Machine Co. for failure to install blowers over every wheel was dismissed, with the understanding that such safety devices should be put in when that portion of the factory is remodeled in April.

Fined $25 Each. Zabus and Milton pleaded guilty to the charges in municipal court this afternoon and each paid fines of $25 and

BIG CONGRESS ON AT MONTREAL

FAMOUS DIGNITARIES OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH MEET IN MONTREAL.

POPE'S LEGATE IS PRESENT

Cardinal Vannutelli the Center of Remarkable Gathering of Prelates—French and English Sectional Gathering—First Held in America.

Montreal, Can., Sept. 7.—With solemn ceremony the twenty-first international eucharistic congress was opened in St. James' cathedral in the presence of several hundred archbishops, bishops and priests, representing nearly every Catholic center in civilization.

The central figure of this mighty gathering is Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli, the papal legate, who brought from Rome the blessing of the holy father. In his honor there was a solemn reception Tuesday evening in St. James' Cathedral, and last night he was given a grand civic reception in the city hall.

Opening Ceremony Very Impressive. The real opening of the congress today was most impressive. The pontifical mass in the Cathedral was celebrated at nine o'clock for the religious communities. Then the sectional meetings, for men, women and priests, began. They were held separately in different halls, both in French and English, and were resumed in the afternoon. Tonight there will be a public meeting in Notre Dame church, to be addressed by some of the distinguished churchmen and laymen.

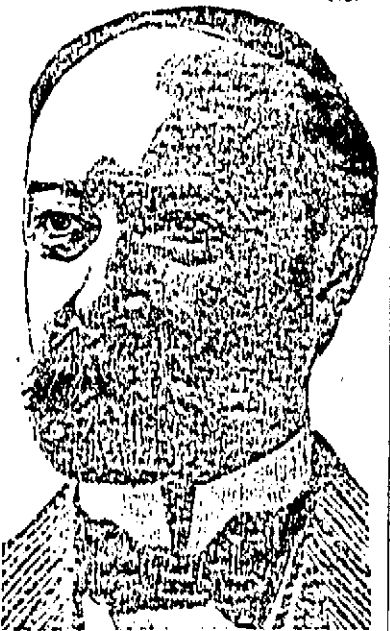

Tomorrow morning, in Fletcher's field, at the foot of Mount Royal, a great open air service will be held. The sermon in English will be delivered by Archbishop William O'Connell of Boston, and in French by Archbishop Touchette of France, Cardinal

TOO MUCH HYSTERIA SAYS C. W. FAIRBANKS

Too Many Counsellors and Among Them False Prophets, Declares Former Vice-President.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 7.—"There is too much hysteria abroad in the country. Let your watchword be 'Down with the demagogue and up with the patriot.'" Thus spoke Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice-president of the United States, to the survivors of the Mexican war, at their reunion here.

"There is much of hysteria abroad in the land. There are many counsellors, and among them many false prophets. Fortunately, the American people are bringing to bear on the problems which face them that deliberate, rational judgment which has been their salvation in the past. Our country and our institutions have cost too much in the precious blood of her immortal sons to be given over either to time-servers, or chance, or anarchy.

"The destructive and constructive forces are battling with each other in the physical world and in the world of political and social life. It has always been so, and it will continue so until the end of time. Such assemblies as this are helpful in their suggestiveness. They bring us face to face with what men did in the somewhat distant past to uphold our national prestige and to carry our flag to honorable victory."

CONGRESS HAS A TALK FEAST.

Many Prominent Men Speak at Conservation Convention.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—Interest in the big conservation congress continues unabated. Seldom in the history of the country has any gathering brought together so many men of prominence in public and private affairs as are listed on the program of speakers for this convention.

The stars in today's oratorical feast were Senators Newlands of Nevada and Dilliver of Iowa, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad.

The most important address of this morning's session was by Senator Newlands, whose subject was "Laws That Should Be Passed." The address was listened to with profound attention by the delegates, and at its conclusion a lengthy discussion followed, in which Murdo McKenzie of Trinidad, Col., took the lead. Other prominent speakers of the morning session were President McVey of the University of North Dakota, on "Rational Taxation of Resources," and President Finley of the Southern railway on "The Interest of the Railways of the South in Conservation."

This afternoon the first speaker of prominence was Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. Mr. Wilson's subject was "Farm Conservation," and was full of meat, as invariably are the utterances of this expert. Senator Dilliver addressed the congress on "Cattle, Food and Leather." James J. Hill, the venerable railroad magnate, held the close attention of the delegates in his talk on "Sells, Crops, Food and Clothing."

Admission to the church will be by ticket only, even for priests. Within the church the sanctuary will be reserved for the cardinals and the archbishop of Montreal. Cardinal Vannutelli will be the celebrant of the mass, and Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis, one of the most eloquent of the prelates of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, will preach the sermon.

Procession of Blessed Sacrament. The culminating feature of the congress from the standpoint of popular interest will be the solemn procession of the blessed sacrament on Sunday. This procession is a feature of every eucharistic congress, and world wide attention was drawn to it two years ago when in London Premier Asquith forbade the carrying of the host in the parade for fear of a hostile demonstration.

The procession will include all the clergy present in Ottawa, the Hibernian Knights, the Congress Guard and all Catholic organizations which may desire to be represented. The procession will form at Notre Dame and proceed to Fletcher's field, with the host being carried by Cardinal Vannutelli at the rear. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion premier, and members of the Dominion government will participate in the procession.

Churchill is Shot. London, Sept. 7.—Winston Churchill, the home secretary, was accidentally wounded in the leg and is now in the English hospital at Smyrna, according to a dispatch received from that city today.

Woman Killed by Boarder. New York, Sept. 7.—Mistaken for a burglar, Mrs. Louis Gels was shot and killed in the hallway of her house by Kurt Welsch, a boarder. Her husband was struck in the arm by a bullet. Welsch was arrested.

Repetition Forbidden. Tomorrow never comes—neither does yesterday.

ST. BERNARD DOG SAVES WOMAN

Finds Her Unconscious From Poison and Gives Warning.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 7.—A St. Bernard dog saved the life of Mrs. Frank Stanley here. He, owned by W. A. Bridell of the United States recruiting station here, while prowling in a clump of weeds near the Third street viaduct, found the woman, unconscious and suffering from the effects of carbolic acid, taken with suicidal intent. The dog barked, attracting the attention of its owner, and the woman was removed to a hospital.

Physicians who examined the woman said she could not have lived long had the dog failed to find her.

Our fore-handed buying places us far in the lead with a wonderfully complete showing of the new things in wearing apparel. We learn that the garment makers' strike has just been settled. It was an unfortunate occurrence and has been a serious handicap to many merchants who did not place orders before the strike. The ready-to-wear garments are something that it takes time to make and they are made weeks before the demand. The authentic styles are decided on by the manufacturers at an early date, otherwise they would not have time to properly make garments for fall selling. The Big Store's showing of the latest fall models is an interesting one. In addition to the early purchases, we are constantly placing orders for new things so that we keep our stock up to the minute all the time.

Our Connections With The Merchandise Reporting Co. of New York

places us in touch with the latest creations as fast as they appear.

The Merchandise Reporting Co. have experts going through the wholesale and retail stores of New York every day in the year and no living merchant could possibly keep posted as thoroughly as the Merchandise Reporting Co. Their clients in the different cities have the advantage of this expert service which amounts to about the same thing as being in New York the year around. We have been members of the Merchandise Reporting Co. for about two years and get reports twice each week on what is going on in the New York stores.

Men Old at 35

One Million Baldheads Who Thought Dandruff Wasn't Dangerous

In the United States and Canada today there are nearly a million men who at 35 can be put in the baldhead class.

When these men had thick vigorous hair, dandruff made its appearance. That was the time to attack the enemy of mankind—the persistent little devil called a dandruff microbe, or germ, that burrows deep down into the hair root and saps it of the vitality that is so essential to the hair.

Young men or any man, for that matter, beware of the dandruff germ; it is not a theory, but an actual condition that confronts you. That dandruff is caused by a germ, is proven beyond question. That this germ destroys the hair root is today a matter of common knowledge.

The People's Drug Co. have the remedy that kills the dandruff germ. They guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. It is called PARISHAN SAGE, and can be obtained at druggists in every town in America—just the People's Drug Co. for it. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle of Parishan Sage.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

DEAR NIECE JOAN:—And so my little girl has decided that she wants to earn her bread and butter and a little cake to go with it instead of having father supply it to her.

Now, Joan, if you hadn't as housewifely a little sister as over took real pleasure in making beds and doing dishes I'd do my best to discourage you. Right off the reel I'd say, "Why not stay at home and help your mother?"

You see, I've seen so many girls in the business world who would be really earning just as much money and be much better off if they would stay right at home and help their mothers and save the cost of a servant.

The wages and board of a maid and what she wastes, I've been told by good authorities, amount to eight or ten dollars and sometimes more, and there are a good many thousand business girls who don't bring in any more than that.

Of course, part of the trouble with that idea is that the girl who stays at home is seldom given any regular wages. When she wants anything, if he feels like it, her father gives her the money, but she doesn't have the feeling of independence that a girl who gets a nice fat little envelope every Saturday noon enjoys.

They had some talk in the papers a little while ago about starting a movement to have men pay their wives regular salaries. I don't believe that would be possible because to pay a good many married women that I know half what they earn as cook, nursemaid, waitress, seamstress, trained nurse and in half a dozen other capacities, their husbands would have to turn over their whole salaries and then some.

But I do wish that fathers would get the habit of paying the girl who stays at home and helps her mother, as regular a wage as he would the maid, whose place she takes.

I think it would keep a good many girls out of the business world who don't belong there.

Well, niece, that's quite far afield from what I started to say which was that as long as you had a sister who liked housework better than you do and who could help your mother all that was necessary, I wouldn't forbid the banns with your new sweetheart—a business career.

Will I write you some advice from my store of experience?

What a ridiculous question, niece.

What is the one thing that everybody likes to give and nobody wants to receive?

You know perfectly that you'd have to dislike my typewriter or put my arms out of commission to keep me from deluging you with it.

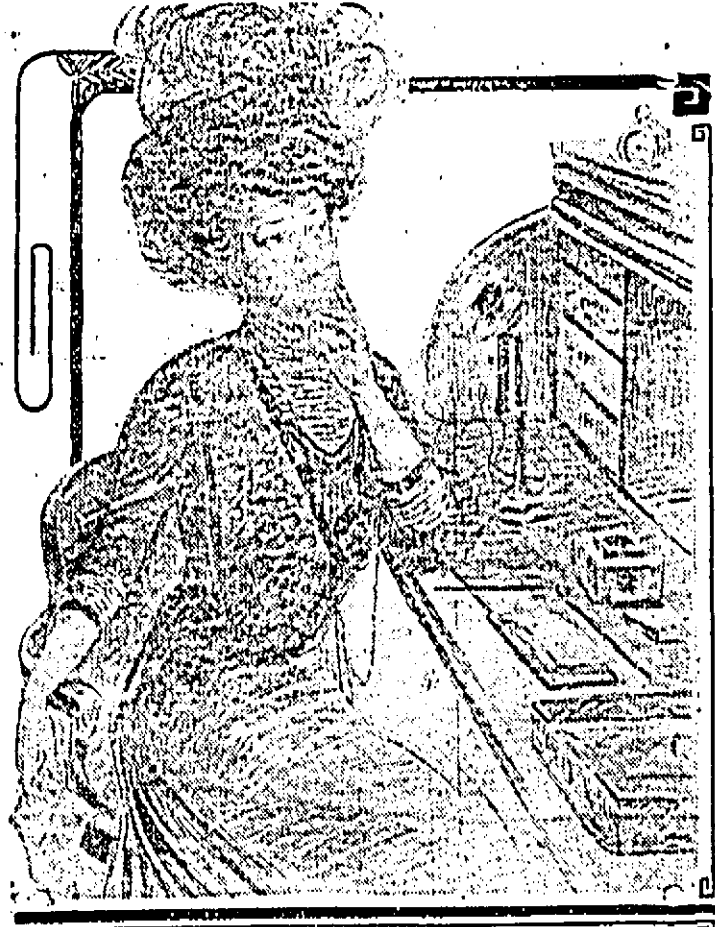

And that wouldn't do any good because then I'd take to dictating.

Of course I know you only ask to flatter me and I'm glad of it, Joan. A good brain and a fund of common sense are the first two requisites for business success but the third is being able to manage people and I'm glad you evidently have that ability even if you do use it on me.

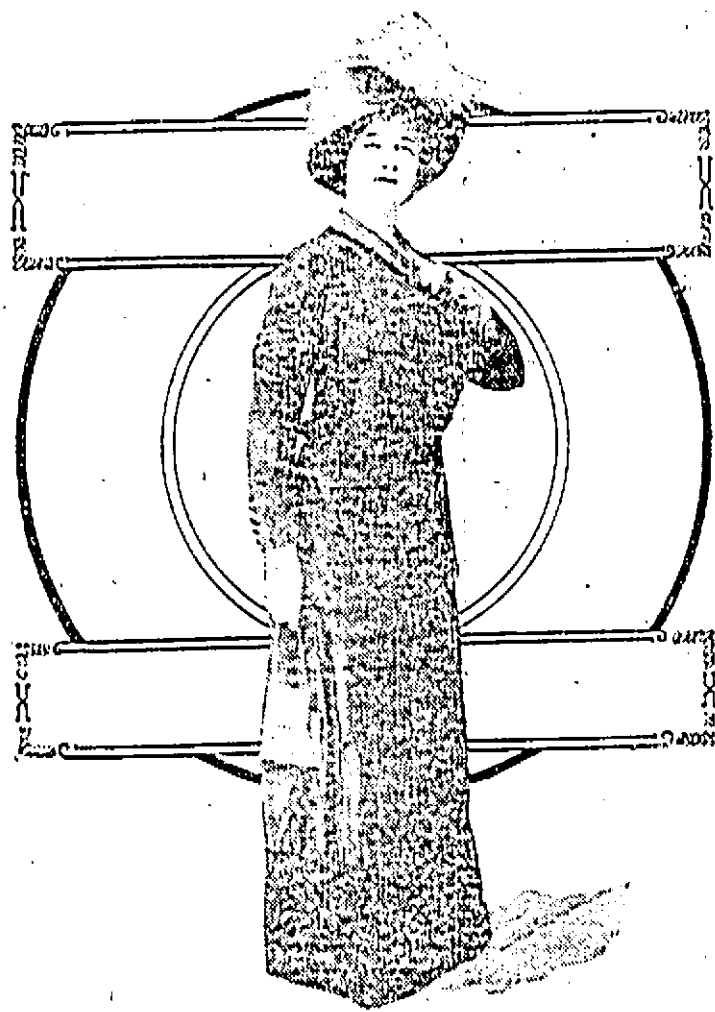

Your Gullible Old Aunt.

P. S. On second thought I think I'll place the ability to manage people second.

P. P. S. Or maybe first.

AFTERNOON COSTUME OF BLACK MOIRE AND VELVET.

When all is said and done with, there is nothing quite so satisfactory as the all-black costume and in these days of liberal ideas on the subject of combinations and the laxity of fashion in regard to what is seasonable, some charming effects have been gained with the most sombre colors. The wide black velvet band with "ribbles" this narrow skirt of black moire is also its sole trimming. If the big buttons of the two materials are excepted. The little jacket shows the crossed fronts, the short-waisted skirt and back and the notched hip pieces, and the hat is one of the new turbans which set well back from the brow and call for no trimming beyond a feather egret.

NOVEL VAPORIZER

Has Hood Attached and Clamps Fast to Little Gas Heater.

As the article here described is one of especial interest to women, it is only fitting that it should have been illustrated by a woman—a resident of Illinois. Furthermore, the woman lives in Chicago, and she probably intended to devise some means of stemming out the effects of the winds of that blustery city. The vaporizer has a pipe running out from one side, with a hood attached. A little gas heater, with a widely extended leg, to secure its setting firmly, has jaws to receive the body of the heater and a thumb-screw to hold the two together. A tube and pipe connect it in a gas jet. This device is perfect together, the heater, hood and the subject with him, or, more likely, her, head, into the hood. A nozzle, with many perforations, enters the hood in front, and this throws a fine spray from the vaporizer into the face of the subject. In this way, the person using the apparatus gets the full force of the vapor, and the hood prevents any of it from being wasted.

THE APPENDICITIS GERM.

Metchnikoff, who has devoted many years to the study of intestinal bacteria, has concluded that appendicitis is caused by bacteria; Dr. Doyen, the best known surgeon in France, agrees with him, and Dr. Hood, a well-known English specialist, says that it is contagious. Every cause has its antecedent cause, and it is undoubtedly true that, in the train of causes that lead to appendicitis, a specific germ is to be found, but this germ is no more the essential preventable cause of appendicitis than the germ of tuberculosis is the thing to be considered in the prevention and cure of consumption, rather than proper feeding, proper ventilation, lighting and exercise, as Dr. Osler of Oxford now admits in the latest edition of his "Practical Medicine." It has been proved that gangrene can be communicated. The germ of appendicitis is a result of the fermentation caused by improper food and lack of exercise, chiefly, and it can be prevented, as consumption can, by proper nutrition. The specific development of appendicitis can be precipitated by contamination, as in consumption or typhoid, when the conditions are favorable, not otherwise. Normal nutrition is best maintained by a simple diet, with sufficient exercise, light, pure air and right mental condition, and phagocytes, the natural defense against disease through the blood, is most efficient when the most healthy condition of the blood is maintained by these means.

SUCCESS OF TWO WOMEN

RUNJAN-ARISTOCRATIC TEA ROOM IN NEW YORK.

Country Girls Go to the City and Demonstrate Their Ability to Make Money in Business.

This is a short story, but a true one. Once upon a time there were two young women living in a small town in Ohio, and they felt the great impulse that comes to all young people to get out into the world and make a name and reputation for themselves. So they packed their trunks with the consent of their parents and went to New York, one to become an artist and the other a trained nurse. But after looking the field over they found they could make more money in other ways. So one of them opened a small tea room. She had an original plan—such an original plan that in a short time she had thousands of women asking for cards entitling them to the privilege of luncheon in that tea room.

Shortly after this the second young woman came to the first and talked things over, and they packed their trunks and went to Europe. While there they visited the notable tea rooms on the Continent and in the British Isles. Then they came back home and opened a tea room together. This was so successful that they very soon opened another one, and shortly after that a third and a fourth, and still people clamored at their doors.

Then a retail organization heard about these young women. It went to them and asked them to open one of their famous tea rooms in a store, and after some consideration the young women decided they would do it.

These two women are today managing this new tea room. It is one of the coolest and most attractive spots in New York in which to take lunch, and nowhere in the city is the cooking better or the service more prompt, nor the atmosphere quieter than in this tea room. Nowhere is a daintier luncheon served, nowhere is genuine home cooking better done. They have brought to bear their feminine taste, their delightful experience in the Old World, and their curious American power to focus on business, which is rapidly developing in our better class of women, in the making of this tea room.

Some Striking Signs of the Diffusion of the Empire's Great National Wealth.

The national wealth of Germany shows striking signs of becoming more and more diffused. The latest statistics indicate that in Prussia the aggregate taxable incomes of less than $750 annually have risen from $775,000,000 in 1895 to $1,000,000,000 in 1909, an increase of nearly 30 per cent. in fourteen years.

Even more remarkable evidence of prosperity among the lower well-to-do classes is afforded by the savings banks deposits, which have grown from $1,125,000,000 to nearly $3,000,000,000 in the same period. This enormous increase is attributable to the rise in wages in almost every German industry.

According to calculations published by the government's accident insurance bureau the German workman's average annual wages have risen during the last ten years from $186.50 to $256.25, an increase of 38 per cent. Assuming that the cost of living in Germany has gone up 25 per cent. in that period, there is still a liberal margin to the good.

The total revenue derived from income tax amounted to $38,000,000 in 1895. Last year it was $71,000,000, the increase being almost entirely due to the growing number of moderate incomes.

If the price of land may be taken as a sign of the well being of a country, the great rise in the price of real estate in Prussia tells an eloquent tale. To give one instance: Twelve years ago the Odlin property near Luckau, a small town in the province of Brandenburg, was sold for $67,500. Eighteen months ago the estate fetched $125,000 and recently it changed hands again for $187,500.

This rise of nearly a threefold increase in twelve years is a striking sign of Germany's rural prosperity, and quite in keeping with its great commercial and industrial expansion since Bismarck put his policies into effect in 1870.

You Yourself.

Your greatest problem is yourself. You are also your greatest treasure. If you can get yourself determined upon—and out what you are and what you are for—and if you can discover and develop the elements of value in your nature, your life will take on the beauty of orderliness and your need of the savings bank will be less and less, for you will be your own riches. I say if you can, for this procedure takes wisdom and wisdom is a fruit which ripens slowly. Perhaps you are not yet wise; perhaps you are still incapable of self-analysis; perhaps you are confused amid the surfaces and appearances of life; perhaps your code of conduct is based upon the customs of the times and the sayings of the alleged sages; perhaps you are disheartened and discouraged—even in a frenzy of retreat before the things of your life which seem to oppose you and beat you back. But even so, that is but a condition or a mood which is not final. The condition will right itself, the mood will pass.

It is a fallacy to believe that advertising will sell anything. The store owner or the article advertised must first of all be good. Advertising merely directs attention to it.

Girls Who Work

are especially exposed to the dangers of female organic disorders. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has enabled thousands of girls to hold their positions.

Read what these girls say:

Phila., Pa.—"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Blood Purifier saved my life. When I was 14 years old I was regular and then I went away for a long time. I went to many doctors but none helped me, so I wrote to you for advice and followed your directions. I took the Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and now I am strong and healthy again. I cannot express my gratitude to you."—Lizzie Weber, 4152 N. Fairhill St., Phila., Pa.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"Having suffered for five long years with suppression and great pain every month, spending big money for doctors and getting no cure, I at last went to Mrs. Pinkham's medicine with little hopes, but found just what I needed. Today I am regular and have no pain, thanks to your advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Lizzie Steiger, 5510 Fleet Ave., S. E., Cleveland, Ohio.

Is it not reasonable to suppose that a medicine that did so much for these girls will do the same for any other girl who is suffering with the same troubles?

These testimonial letters are the genuine and truthful statements from honest people.

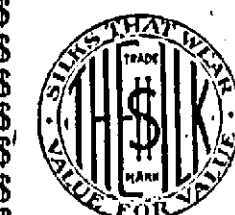

Does it not seem the only sensible thing to give such a medicine at least a trial? You may be sure that it can do you no harm, and there is lots of proof that it will do you much good.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It is a new science, that analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing this cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to make. Yet there is plenty of proof.

R. Puddicombe to back them up. If you are sick and suffer, J. N. Puddicombe, M.D., Ing. If you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people have been given up by the medical profession.

Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments.

L. W. BOWERS SERIOUSLY ILL.

President Receives Word of Solicitor
General's Condition in Boston.
Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 7.—President Taft received a telegram on his train telling of the desperate illness of Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers at the Touraine hotel in Boston. Mr.
Taft was deeply disturbed by the news.
Mr. Bowers has been considered the probable choice for one of the vacant places on the Supreme court and some have gone so far as to declare that he might be made chief justice. The president regards Mr. Bowers as one of the ablest lawyers of the United

Year of Work in New Quarters in Monroe City.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., Sept. 7.—The Green county training school for teachers, which was moved here from Broad-head, after its initial year, opened here yesterday with an enrollment of forty-five students. While the attendance has yet not very large, indications are that a great many will enroll in the next few days. There are twenty-nine students and sixteen teachers in the school, thirteen being non-resident pupils. Eight have enrolled from Rock county, three from county, this state and one from Stephenson county, Illinois. Prof. C.

H. Dietz is principal and Miss Margaret Stafford and Miss Susie Dom-mond are instructors in the school.
The former was instructor in the training school last year and gave splendid satisfaction. Indications point to a very successful school year.

Young Buffalo's Wild West show gave two good performances here yesterday afternoon and evening. They came on the Illinois Central in a special train, of twenty cars, and at 11:30 gave a very creditable parade, consisting of Indians, wild horses, two bears and a calico. The feature of the parade was the 20-car train. The shows were first class and the crowds were amply satisfied with them.

Methodist Episcopal church here, was Street Assessment Committee Has Information for Aldermen Regarding Improvements.

Three reports will be submitted by the street assessment committee regarding highway improvements in the city at the next meeting of the common council which will be held Thursday night. Other matters which will also come before the council are request for a transfer of a saloon license from Mrs. Leo Koester to Paul Jandke, the plumber's bond of P. O.
Andros to excavate streets and the report of the board of education for the month of August showing expenditures of $32,823.

The first of the committee's reports is concerned with the proposals resolved for the improvements of Millennia Point Ave., and also for the laying of cement gutters and curbing on a number of streets where the council has ordered improvements and the property owners have failed to have the work done. Only one bid has been received, that of G. D. Cannon who has furnished a bond of $2,000 and the committee has recommended that the contract be awarded to him.

A report on several districts Nos.
11, 14 and 16 has been prepared and the proposal of Andrew Thomson of Rutledge has also been prepared a report on proposals received to improve Jackson
St., from the south side of Milwaukee
Ave. to the south side of South Third St., Wisconsin St., from South Second to South Third St., and East St., from South Second to South Third St. A.
E. Rutledge of Rutledge is the lowest bidder for this work but his proposal is based on the use of a certain kind of asphalt binder to the use of which the committee is not favorable but it is thought that the contractor and the city can reach an agreement as regards this material.

MEAT AND FRUIT PRESS
Tits So That Liquid Will Flow Into Bowl or Other Vessel Below.
A meat and fruit press with features that will commend it to chef or housewife has been invented by a Pennsylvania man. It is so constructed that the liquid essence flows steadily into a waiting receiver as it is being squeezed from the meat or fruit under pressure. The stand of this apparatus is made to clamp to the edge of a table and the upper portion, inside which the press proper rests, is inclined so as to give the mouth of the press a downward tilt. The shape of this vessel is shown in the illustration.

CHAPTER II.

"Who is she?" asked Emerson.

"She's Miss Malotte, and she's certainly some considerable lady," answered the crook.

"Yes, but who is she? What does this mean?" Emerson pointed to the provisions and fittings about them.

"What is she doing here alone?"

"Maybe you'd better ask her yourself," said Fraser.

For the first time in their brief acquaintance Emerson detected a strange note in the crook's voice.

The Indian girl summoned them, and they followed her through the long passageway into the other house, where, to their utter astonishment, they seemed to step out of the frontier and into the heart of civilization. They found a tiny dining room perfectly appointed, in the center of which, wonder of wonders, was a round table gleaming like a deep mahogany pool, upon the surface of which floated gaily hand worked napery, glinting silver and sparkling crystal, the dark polish of the wood reflecting the light from shaded candles. It held a delicately figured service of blue and gold, while the selection of thin stemmed glasses all in rows indicated the character of the entertainment that awaited them. The men's eyes were too busy with the unaccustomed sight to note details carefully, but they felt soft carpet beneath their feet and observed that the walls were smooth and harmoniously papered.

"This is marvellous," murmured Emerson. "I'm afraid we're not in keeping."

"Indeed you are," said the girl, "and I am delighted to have somebody to talk to. It's very long since here."

"This is certainly a swell place," Fraser remarked. "How did you do it?"

"I brought my things with me from Nome,"

"Nome!" ejaculated Emerson quickly.

"Yes."

"Why, I've been in Nome ever since the camp was discovered. It's strange we never met."

"I didn't stay there very long; I went back to Dawson."

Again he fancied the girl's eyes held a vague challenge, but he could not be sure, for she smiled him and then gave some instructions to the silent girl, Floyd, becoming absorbed in his own thoughts, grew more silent as the signs of refinement and civilization about him revived memories long stifled. This was not the effect for which the girl had striven. Her younger guest's taciturnity, which grew as the dinner progressed, piqued her, so at the first opportunity she bent her efforts toward rallying him. He answered politely, but she was powerless to shake off his mood.

At last he spoke:

"You said those watchmen have instructions not to harbor travelers. Why is that?"

"It is the policy of the companies. They are afraid somebody will discover gold around here. You see, this is the greatest salmon river in the world. The 'run' is tremendous and seems to be unending; hence the cannery people wish to keep it all to themselves."

"I don't quite understand."

"It is simple enough. Kalvik is so isolated and the fishing season is so short that the companies have to send their crews in from the States and take them out again every summer. Now, if gold were discovered hereabouts the fishermen would all quit and follow the 'strike,' which would mean the ruin of the year's catch and the loss of many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Why, this village would become a city in no time if such a thing were to happen. The whole region would fill up with miners, and not only would labor conditions be entirely upset for years, but the eyes of the world, being turned this way, other people might go into the fishing business and create a competition which would both influence prices and deplete the supply of fish in the Kalvik river. So, you see, there are many reasons why this region is forbidden to miners. You couldn't buy a pound of food nor get a night's lodging here for a king's ransom. The watchmen's jobs depend upon their unbroken bond of hospitality, and the Indians dare not sell you anything, not even a dogfish, under penalty of starvation, for they are dependent upon the companies' stores."

"So that is why you have established a trading post of your own?"

"Oh, dear, no. This isn't a store. This food is for my men."

"Your men?"

"Yes, I have a crew out in the hills, on a grub stake. This is our cache. While they prospect for gold I stand guard over the provisions."

Fraser chuckled softly. "Then you are bucking the salmon trust?"

"After a fashion, yes. I knew this country had never been gone over, so I staked six men, chartered a schooner and came down here from Nome in the early spring. We stood off the watchmen, and when the supply ships arrived we had these houses completed, and my men were out in the hills where it was hard to follow them. I stayed behind and stood the brunt of things."

"But surely they didn't undertake to injure you?" said Emerson, now thoroughly interested in this extraordinary young woman.

"Oh, didn't they?" she answered, with a peculiar laugh. "You don't appreciate the character of these people. There is no real code of financial morality, and the battle for dollars is the bitterest of all contests. Of course, being a woman, they couldn't very well attack me personally, but they tried everything except physical violence, and I don't know how long they will refrain from that. These plants are owned separately, but they operate under an agreement with one man at the head. His name is Marsh—Willis Marsh—and of course he's not my friend."

"Sort of united we stand, divided we fall."

"Exactly. That spreads the responsibility and seems to leave nobody guilty for his evil deeds. The first thing they did was to sink my schooner. In the morning you will see her spars sticking up through the ice out in front there. One of their tugs 'accidentally' ran her down, although she was at anchor fully 300 feet inside the channel line. Then Marsh actually had the offshooty to come here personally and demand damages for the injury to his towboat, falsely claiming there were no lights on the schooner. When I still remained obdurate he—"

"She paused. 'You may have heard of it. He killed one of my men.'"

"Impossible!" ejaculated Floyd.

"Oh, but it isn't impossible. Anything is possible with unscrupulous men where there is no law. They bait at nothing when in chase of money. They are different from women in that I never heard of a woman doing murder for money."

"Was it really murder?"

"Judge for yourself. My man came down for supplies, and they got him drunk—he was a drinking man—then they stabbed him. They said a Chinaman did it in a brawl, but Willis Marsh was to blame. They brought the poor fellow here and laid him on my steps, as if I had been the cause of it. Oh, it was horrible, horrible!"

"And you still stuck to your post?" said Emerson curiously.

"Certainly! This adventure meant a great deal to me, and, besides, I will not be beaten—the stem of the glass with which she had been toying snapped suddenly—"at anything."

The unexpected luxury of the dining room and the excellence of the dinner itself had in a measure prepared Emerson for what he found in the living room. One thing staggered him—a piano. The hearthside on the floor, the big sleepy chairs, the reading table littered with magazines, the shelves of books, even the basket of fancy work-

GOOD NEWS.

Many Janesville Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Janesville are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach.

"Milly's" lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands upon thousands of people are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

"John Pollard, Edgerton, Wis., says: 'I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times for several years and in view of the good results I received, I have no hesitation in recommending them. I suffered for some time from a dull pain in the small of my back and I was cured much more quickly by Doan's Kidney Pills. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I decided to give them a trial and procured a box. They gave me relief in a short time and before long I was free from the trouble. Since then, whenever I have felt any symptoms of a return, I have at once taken Doan's Kidney Pills, and they have never failed to drive away the attack. I know Doan's Kidney Pills to be a reliable kidney remedy.'"

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

After an hour, during which Emerson barely spoke, she tired of Fraser's anecdotes, which had long ceased to be amusing, and, going to piano, shuffled the sheet music idly, inquiring:

"Do you care for music?" Her remark was aimed at Emerson, but the other answered: "My favorite hymn is the 'Maple Leaf Rag.' Let her go, professor."

Cherry settled herself obligingly and played ragtime. She was in the midst of some syncopated measure when Floyd spoke abruptly, "Please play something."

She understood what he meant and began really to play, realizing very soon that at least one of her guests knew and loved music. Under her deft fingers the instrument became a medium for musical speech. Gay roundelays, swift, passionate Hungarian dances, bold Wagnerian strains followed in quick succession, and the more her utter abandon the more certain she felt the younger man responded. Then her dream filled eyes widened as she listened to his voice breathing life into the words. He sang with the ease and flexibility of an artist, his powerful baritone blending perfectly with her contralto.

For the first time she felt the man's personality, his magnetism, as if he had dropped his cloak and stood at her side in his true semblance.

"Oh, thank you," she breathed.

"Thank you," he said. "I—that's the first time in ages that I've had the heart to sing. I was hungry for music; I was starving for it. I've sat in my cabin at night longing for it until my soul fairly ached with the silence."

He took a seat near the girl and continued to talk feverishly, unable to give voice to his thoughts rapidly enough.

Fraser ambled clumsily into the conversation. Emerson listened tolerantly, idly running through the tangziness at his hand, his hostess watching him covertly. Suddenly the smile of amusement that lurked about his lip corners and gave him a pleasing look hardened in a queer fashion. He started, then stared at one of the pages, while the color died out of his brown cheeks. Cherry saw the hand that held the magazine tremble. He looked up at her and, disregarding Fraser, broke in harshly:

"Have you read this magazine?"

"Not entirely."

"I'd like to take one page of it."

"Why, certainly," she replied.

He produced a knife and with one quick stroke cut a single leaf out of the magazine, which he folded and thrust into the breast of his coat.

"Thank you," he muttered, then fell to stringing along his hand, again heedless of his surroundings. This abrupt relapse into his former state of sullen and defiant silence tantalized the girl. He offered no explanation and took no further part in the conversation until, noting the lateness of the hour, he rose and thanked her for her hospitality in the same deadly, indifferent manner.

"The music was a great treat," he said, looking beyond her and holding aloof, "a very great treat. I enjoyed it immensely. Good night."

Cherry Malotte had experienced a new sensation, and she didn't like it. She vowed angrily that she disliked men who looked past her. Indeed, she could not recall any other who had ever done so. Her chief concern had always been to check their order. She resolved violently that before she was through with this young man he would make her a less listless adieu. She assured herself that he was a selfish, sullen boor, who needed to be taught a lesson in manners for his own good if for nothing else. She darted to the table, snatched up the magazine and skimmed through it feverishly. Ah, here was the place!

A woman's face with some meaning, less name beneath filled each page. Along the top ran the heading, "Famous American Beauties." So it was a woman! She skipped backward and forward among the pages for further possible enlightenment, but there was no article accompanying the pictures. It was merely an illustrated section devoted to the photographs of prominent actresses and society women, most of whom she had never heard of, though here and there she saw a name that was familiar. In the center was that tantalizingly clean cut edge which had subtracted a face from the gallery—a face which she wanted very much to see.

She shrugged her shoulders carelessly. Then, in a sudden access of fury, she flung the mutilated magazine viciously into a far corner of the room.

The travelers slept late on the following morning, for the weariness of weeks was upon them, and the little bunk room they occupied adjoined the main building and was dark. When they came forth they found Chikawana in the store and a few minutes later were called to breakfast.

"Where is your mistress?" inquired Floyd.

Temperament may not be overcome, but it can be modified. The best character that you can take as your guide is one absolutely true and always cheerful. Cheerfulness is one of the first of virtues.

When Gulls Are Greedy

Is there anything in the world," asked the Ticklemouse, dreamily, "quite like a moonlight sail?"

"Nothing whatever," answered Willy, happily, tossing half a smoked herring over the after rail just for the fun of watching the gulls squabble over it.

"Watch 'em fight, will you?"

"Isn't there danger they'll get the bones stuck in their throats?" asked Dorfy, anxiously.

The Ticklemouse laughed. "Any time you get anything caught in a gull's throat," he chuckled, wisely, "Gulls' throats aren't built that way," and he took another herring out of the box, made a sandwich of it with two crackers, and munching it with keen relish.

Nobody noticed how quickly little Willy looked up at his uncle's words. Nobody saw the mischievous sparkle in his eye as he disappeared in the cabin and carefully tied two pieces of tough beefsteak together with a stout cord about three feet long. He was sitting beside the others before they had even missed him.

"Here!" called Dorfy to the gulls, which flew lazily after the yacht, creaking like rusty shutters in the wind.

"Here, fight over this!" She tossed them the backbone and head of another smoked herring, and the squawking gulls came down on it like a feathered cloud.

"Wish I had my gun here," said Davy. "I'd shoot a few."

"You could shoot a long while," said the Mouse. "They look fat enough, but they're mostly fluff and feathers—the bird himself is built almost like that herring bone. They'd fool almost any hunter."

Just then Willy raised his paw and tossed something into the water. Almost before the four friends heard the splash the gulls were diving for it. Two of them rose squawking into the night air and started to fly off in opposite directions.

"That one got it!" cried Dorfy, pointing to one gull. "No, that one's still him!" cried Davy. Just then both gulls were jerked back together as if by a hidden hand—and Dorfy caught sight of the cord.

"Why, they're hitched together! What did it?"

"Who did it, you mean?" yelled the Ticklemouse, making a dive for Willy. "Unhitch those gulls, you young rascal!"

But Willy refused to wish them apart till he had led his uncle a merry chase about the deck. "Thought you said nothing could get stuck in a gull's throat!" he squeaked, laughing till he cried. "Serves 'em right, anyhow—even gulls oughtn't to be quite so greedy as all that. Maybe after this they'll be a bit more careful of their table manners!"
